PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND IT.
This medicine, combining iron with pure vegetable tonics, quickly and completely cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Weakness, Impure Blood, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, and Neuritis.
It is an unrivaled remedy for Diseases of the Kidneys and Liver.
It is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—other iron medicines do. It enriches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, and the assimilation of food, relieves heartburn and belching, and strengthens the muscles and nerves.
For Intermittent Fevers, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, &c., it has no equal.
The genuine has above trade mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

Be Kind to Your Preacher.

Respectfully dedicated to the members of La-Fayette Circuit, M. E. Church, South.

Be kind to your preacher, God requires this of you.

You know what your duty, God knows what you do.

Be kind to your preacher, there's a Ledger in Heaven.

And its figures will show how much you have given.

Be kind to your preacher, just think what you'll do.

If you were the preacher, and the preacher were you.

Be kind to your preacher in a hundred of ways.

These nights are so long, and so cold are the days.

Be kind to your preacher, we all have to live,

Divide of your store, 'tis blessed to give.

Be kind to your preacher, don't ask me just how.

Send in milk and butter, if he hasn't a cow.

Be kind to your preacher, his horse has to eat.

Just unload the corn, while the preacher's asleep.

Be kind to your preacher, the way is so plain.

The mill is all grinding, send on your grain.

Be kind to your preacher, your fire burns bright.

Look in at his window as you pass by at night.

Be kind to your preacher, look after his coal.

That's a very small item, he prays for your soul.

Be kind to your preacher, there's groceries in it.

Fill up a nice box and send it around.

Be kind to your preacher, don't complain of his style.

He's not yet himself, he was sick a long while.

Be kind to your preacher, he's a lesson to teach.

He chose a profession, God called him to preach.

Be kind to your preacher, be kind to his wife.

She has trials enough as she journeys through life.

We have very fine sailing, yet complain of our way.

But say to this woman, "be patient and pray."

She is only a woman, and feels as we do.

She has sorrows and sickness and kindred are few.

And if they are many, they live far away.

Then what are we doing for our sister to-day?

She feels sad and lonely, a stranger from home.

Let's open our hearts, and show her the room.

Let's make care for our preacher, the preacher's dear wife.

And his four little children, a part of our life.

We will do all we can, and the Master will say:

"These men were faithful, I will hand down

the pay."

And there on our hands, such rich blessings

He'll pour.

That our hearts will cry out, "Lord let us do more!"

And thus when all duties and labors are past,

With our preacher and dear ones we'll get home at last.

Mrs. Garland Jones.

Whom Woman has Loved.

"A woman can never quite forget the man

she has loved."—An Old letter.

Whom woman has loved she can never forget.

No matter how grievous her wrong;

Her heartache may deepen, her poignant regret

Grow keener as time rolls along,

[The rose on her face]

May to ashes give place.

On her brow may the seal of sorrow be set.

[The thorn in her heart]

Strike a tenderer part,

But whom she has loved she can never forget.

Whom woman has loved she can never

forget.

Tho' he merit her deadliest hate;

She never completely can cancel the debt

Of her heart which was settled by fate.

[The light in her eye]

May fade, she may die

Of neglect or of scorn, but no'er have I yet

Seen woman abhor

Whom she had loved a life.

For whom she has loved she can never forget.

Whom woman has loved she can never

forget.

If love were at first deep and true;

Altho' she be caught in the tempter's dark

net.

Or drinks of the Upan tree's dew.

[Her thoughts will still burn]

And her heart fondly turn

To sweet scenes of yore, and the often will let

[That heart dream of love]

And will thus clearly prove

That whom she has loved she can never forget.

In Memorium.

Sitting by the glowing embers

Drawn the crimson curtains low,

Shutting out the dreary winter,

And the cold and drifting snow,

Dreaming of the bitter changes,

In our home once fair and bright,

While sad vigils I am keeping

'Neath the cypress boughs to-night.

First to go from our home-circle,

Was the dearest of our flock,

The pet darling of our number,

In whose little shoe and frock

Brings to me the sweetest prattle

Of a tender charming grace

In the "joy of our household,"

In our little baby's face.

Then the next so strong and noble,

For our happiness, he would

Sacrifice his every pleasure,

Living only for our good.

Faithful friend! You had to leave us,

Giving each the parting hand,

If death's summons finds us ready

We'll meet again in Eden's land.

Then the next was frail and harmless

Yet to his appetite was bound,

But in death we trust his spirit

With a loving Christ was found.

Next to follow, was wife and mother,

On whose young life a bright day fell,

Showing how vain are earth's delusions,

How sure must come the grave and pall.

Next to go, Oh! God of mercy,

Out in winter's sleet and snow,

Was the husband and the father,

Then our household god was low.

Left like sheep without a shepherd,

With our hearts so full of woe,

When the dearest one had left us,

When I saw my idol go.

Thy blinding tears we are looking upward,

Comfort in the words I find,

Going, willing, I am ready,

"I am perfectly resigned,"

Oh! my darling, Oh! my darling,

Only gone before to God,

And your spirit robes about me,

While I bow beneath the rod.

THE CABINET.

Augustus H. Garland.

UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM AR-

KANSAS, WHO WILL PROBABLY

BE ATTORNEY-GENERAL AT

WASHINGTON.

The name of Augustus H. Garland,

United States Senator from Arkansas, appears in all, or nearly all, the many

"elates" which represent the more or less well-founded conjectures of editors, as to whom President-elect

Cleveland will call to his counsel.

He is a learned, able and powerful man, and the compliment paid him in this virtual unanimity of journalistic judgment regarding him, has been earned by his diligence and the remarkable evidences of statesmanship which he has exhibited in a career comparatively but short.

He was born in Tipton county, Tennessee, June 11, 1832. A year afterwards his parents removed into the State of Arkansas, of which Mr. Garland has been a resident ever since,

with the exception of the time he spent in acquiring an education.

At a suitable age he was removed from the freedom of his father's farm to the restraints of school life. He acquired his academic training at Bardston, Kentucky, where he was an inmate of Saint Mary's and afterwards Saint Joseph's, two Catholic colleges. There too he decided upon becoming a lawyer, and began to read sheepskin bound books and to follow the proceedings of courts of justice with the view to future appearances in a professional capacity.

He was admitted to practice at Washington, Arkansas, in the year

1853, and immediately opened an office. In 1859 he removed to Little Rock, the capital of the State, where he built up an excellent business as a lawyer.

In 1860 he was a Bell and Everett

Electors, and opposed threatened secession as long as there existed the apparent possibility of preventing it.

When, however, it became inevitable

he went with his State. He was a member of the Convention in Arkansas, which passed the ordinance of secession, and of the Provisional

Congress of the Confederacy, which Obituary.

Died, near Bennettstown, Christian Co., Ky., at his father's residence, Oscar Rives, youngest and only surviving son of Mr. Wm. Rives. Another flower has been plucked from the sunny home; another breach made in the happy circle; another jewel stolen from the treasury of love. Oscar was just nineteen years old, and, as he stood on the threshold of manhood, with life's plans and purposes, his heart nerved with noble endeavor for his own and his father's good, how hard to sink in helpless weakness into the grave! He was ever hopeful and generous, his soul panted after communion with the great and good, and reached forth with earnest struggle for the garden in the distance. But God, saw fit in His infinite love and wisdom to call him home while young and his heart tender and true. We remember him in the school-room years ago, a bright intelligent, manly little fellow, and always a perfect gentleman, proud and ambitious to excel, courteous and pleasant in society, cheerful and affectionate at home. Sorrowing father, your "Boys" are with their saluted mother, and sweet sister, "Waiting and watching at the beautiful gate," for you. Weeping sisters, dry your tears, remember how often you have heard Oscar's sweet voice sing, "O safe to the Rock that is higher than I, my soul in its conflicts and sorrows would fly." He did not fear death, "Our loved one hath left us, but only gone home." Let us say, "Thy will be done."

"We are waiting by the river,
We are watching by the shore,
Only waiting for the boatman,
Soon He'll come to bear us o'er."
He has called for many a loved one,
We have seen them leave our side;
With our Savior we shall meet them,
When we too have crossed the tide."
ONE WHO LOVED HIM.

Lotus Society.

ED. SOUTH KENTUCKIAN:
The Lotus Literary Society, of Bethel Female College, held its usual session on Friday evening. New officers presiding, Annie Smith President, and Sallie Rust Secretary. The following program was nicely carried out:
Music—Sarah Dagg.
Reading—Hattie Mathis.
Song—Annie Smith.
Essay—Carrie Cox.
News and Notes—Vie Meacham.
Vocal Duet—Mamie Rust and Mary Richardson.
Criticism—J. O. Rust.
After the foregoing performance, Mr. C. M. Meacham, of the South Kentuckian, was introduced and delivered an instructive and entertaining lecture on the origin, progress and present status of the Egyptian War. Among the visitors present were the Rev. A. C. Biddle, Rev. J. N. Prestridge, Messrs. S. C. and M. L. Trice, Drs. Vaughan and Crumline, Mr. Oscar Lane and quite a company of ladies.
It is a remarkable fact that in this latitude less than one inch of snow, all told, has fallen during the present winter. This is the first time the snow-fall has been so light in many years.

HERE AND THERE.

Howe's time is the city standard.
Candler's Stock Sale next Saturday.
Sacks for putting up meat for sale at this office, cheap.
M. D. Kelly, Jeweler and Optician; 25 years practical experience.
Born, to the wife of Col. L. A. Sybert, Feb. 19th, a boy.
We handle all kinds of paper bags and flour sacks.
There is nothing in the amusement line booked for the immediate future.
Mr. J. M. Tandy's sale, at his residence over the river Saturday, was largely attended.
Rev. W. P. Harvey, State Sunday school agent, preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning to a large congregation.
Owing to the bad weather the masque carnival that was to have been given at the rink last Friday night, was postponed until Friday night, March 6.
The cold wave predicted arrived on time Friday and the mercury dropped from 25 degrees above to two degrees below zero. Let us hope that the severe weather is over for this winter.
The train on the I. A. & T. railroad is doing a very good business. It brings in both freight and passengers every day. A good deal of flour has been brought in from Peacher's Mills, near Glen Ellen, and from Barker's Mills, near Kennedy. A depot building has been put up at Glen Ellen—Clarksville Chronicle.

Mr. Harry Buckner and Miss Lizzie Monroe will be married to-morrow, and on Thursday evening at 7:30 the bride and groom will be given a reception at the residence of Mrs. S. A. Buckner, the groom's mother, near Longview, on the Clarksville pike. A large number of invitations have been issued.
The South Kentuckian's subscription list still continues to grow larger, which is evidence of its being appreciated. When one stops to think that we give 105 issues a year, for only $2—less than 2 cents a copy—it can be easily realized that the Kentuckian is the is the cheapest paper published in this section. Sample copies sent upon application.

Juo. T. Raymond, the great comedian, appeared Thursday evening last in his burlesque, "For Congress." He is the most celebrated actor of his school, who has ever visited Hopkinsville, and he was greeted by the best house of the season. The play is a comedy of the highest character, and with Raymond playing the part of Gen. Josiah Limber, it was one laugh from beginning to end. Should Mr. Raymond revisit us he will have a packed house.
Dr. J. C. Whitlock's office at Newstead was burned Saturday morning about daylight. It caught from a defective flue. Dr. Jack Whitlock was sleeping in the office and had gotten up and started a fire in the stove and shortly afterwards the fire was discovered in the second story. No water could be had and the fire rapidly spread and the office with its contents was totally destroyed. The library, medicine, furniture, etc., together with the house aggregate a loss of about $700 or $800, with no insurance. Messrs. Wall & McGehee had some goods stored in a part of the building, but we could not learn what their loss was or whether they had insurance.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Sunday evening an alarm of fire was given on Main Street. The alarm caused a stampede from the churches and with one or two exceptions the services were entirely broken up. The fire proved to be Mr. H. A. Phelps' cabin. His cook, Lou Broadie, had gone to church without exercising the proper caution about the fire, which had rolled down and set the house on fire. The cabins with all their contents were entirely consumed, together with a smoke-house adjoining. It was not close enough to endanger the residence and Mr. Phelps would not allow the fire company to tear down his yard fence to get to the cistern. An immense crowd was on hand in a very short time. The loss was probably $150 with no insurance. Several nice fruit trees were also killed.

The Louisville Times thus compliments two Hopkinsville ladies: Hopkinsville has the only female fire insurance agent in the United States, Miss Mollie Martin, and the South Kentuckian says she possesses good business qualifications. Miss Martin is an applicant for the post-office at Hopkinsville, and the Times hereby and herewith signs her petition. A woman who is a good insurance agent can run a post-office, as Judge Kincaid would remark, "to the Queen's taste." Hopkinsville has, as manager of the telegraph office, a lady who is one of the best as she is the most obliging operator in the State, it would be a gallant thing if the gentlemen applying for the post-office would stand aside and let the town have a postmistress after the same order.

The grandson of an ex-Governor of Kentucky has just been placed in the penitentiary, the grandson of another ex-Governor is in jail awaiting the penitentiary, and the grandson of one greater than any of our Governors was recently killed in a bar-room brawl. Great qualities appear to wear out before they reach the third generation.—Louisville Times.

DEAD.

Gen. George Washington Dead—A Monument 555 Feet High Erected To His Memory Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The formal dedication of Washington monument took place this morning, as the 22nd falls on Sunday. The weather was intensely cold, the thermometer at 11 A. M., ranging fourteen degrees above zero, but the sky was clear and bright. The near approach of the inauguration ceremonies swelled the crowds of visitors. At an early hour the streets presented an animated appearance, numerous military and civic organizations and crowds of spectators marching toward the base of the grand shaft. The out-door ceremonies began at the foot of the monument precisely at 11 o'clock. The grand stand was filled with distinguished guests. President Arthur, the Cabinet, visiting Governors of States, Senators, Representatives, diplomatic corps, members of the Monument Commission, and all participating in the presentation, dedication, religious and Masonic exercises. Senator Sherman presided. He opened the exercises with a brief address, reviewing the history of the monument and paying an eloquent tribute to Washington.
The address by the venerable W. W. Corcoran, President of the Washington Monument Association, was present, but unequal to the task of speaking, was read.
Colonel Casey, engineer in charge of the construction of the monument, reviewed the work done under his superintendence.
Then President Arthur delivered the dedication address.
This closed the ceremonies at the monument, and the procession, a grand display of military pomp and civic power, moved from the monument grounds to the Capitol.
It was half-past 2 when the assembly was called to order. After a few opening remarks by Edmunds and prayer by Rev. Wallis, the oration of Hon. Robt. C. Winthrop, (who as Speaker delivered the oration when the corner-stone was laid 37 years ago) was read by Congressman John D. Long, of Massachusetts.
At the conclusion of Winthrop's oration Hon. John W. Daniel, of Virginia, delivered an eloquent speech.

TRIGG COUNTY NEWS.

Mr. Geo. T. McCain, of Cadiz, died in Florida last Sunday.
We are glad to say that none of the rude, coarse pictures, commonly called comic valentines, passed through this post-office. They are utterly devoid of humor, and our people are above dealing in such coarseness.—Telephone.
The air is redolent with the perfumes of orange blossoms. One of our most popular and beautiful young ladies will be sacrificed on Hyman's altar ere many days. No more questions but wait until next week for further developments.—Telephone.
The meeting at the Methodist Church is still in progress with increasing interest. Rev. G. W. Lyon, of Franklin, Ky., is now adding the pastor, and is ably and earnestly pressing the claims of the gospel to attentive and appreciative audiences.—Telephone.

Mr. John E. Ricketts, a wealthy young farmer of Montgomery, was married on the 11th inst., to Miss Lou Myers, of Princeton, and the couple left on a tour to New Orleans. Mr. Ricketts is a genial, worthy and popular young gentleman, and his bride is a very attractive and accomplished young lady. The SOUTH KENTUCKIAN wishes them much happiness.

Stock Holders' Annual Meeting.

The Stock Holders of the Christian County A. & M. A. will meet at the office of the Secretary, on Monday, March 2, at 2 o'clock P. M. promptly, to elect a Board of Directors and President for the ensuing year. All Stock Holders are earnestly requested to be present in person or by proxy. By order of the President.

What Ingenuity Does.

Every one has heard, I suppose, of Evans, the American dentist, who carries the city of Paris in his coat pocket. He was the Emperor's dentist, and he has given European royalty more pain for cash, than any man in the world. He operates in a dress suit, drives superb horses, and lives in a wonderful mansion that was given to him by Napoleon III. Well, there is his like in New York just now. I was riding through Park the other morning, and my attention was called to a big, handsome man sitting with self-possession which did him credit in one of those atrocious vehicles, a dog-cart. "That," said my companion, "is Richmond, the new dentist."
"Who is he?" I naturally inquired.
"He came here from California some two or three years ago, with some contrivance for putting artificial teeth upon natural roots, so that nothing could remove them without hauling out the whole tooth. It is called the Richmond crown setting, I believe. The crack dentists of the city went wild over it, but he had patented the whole thing, and had them where they couldn't move. He came here with only a little money and no practice. Now he employs seven skilled workmen, has offices that are simply palatial, and is enabled to support the style you saw just now. He is, in a word, a sensation, and will make $100,000 in a year. That shows what a little ingenuity will do for a man."
It did. But too much ingenuity isn't always successful. When I was a lad, I knew an old fellow that was always inventing something. He had the greatest work in this line was the concoction of a wonderful explosive substance. He completed his work, and demonstrated its power one afternoon, when I sat on the wall that separated our yard from his orchard, viewing his apple trees with speculation in my eyes. I saw one section of his house rise a few yards in the air, and come down with a crash. I also saw where enough of him fell to hold an inquest on—a clothes-pin.—Philadelphia Press.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested his wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. The Weeping Water Republican is the name of a weekly paper printed out in Nebraska. A good many weeping-water Republicans will be visible to the naked eye in this blessed year of grace, 1885; they won't be confined to Nebraska either.—Cattletsburg Democrat.

A LARGE AND FINE

stock of Perfumery, Toilet Soaps, Combs and Brushes, Cosmetics generally, also a fine stock of stationery just received at J. R. Armistead's.

Neither mental nor physical labor can be accomplished satisfactorily unless the system is in order. When you feel tired, languid, wearied without exertion, the mind slow to act, and requiring great mental effort, you can rest assured that your Liver is not acting properly, and that nature requires assistance to help throw off impurities. There is no remedy that will accomplish this so mildly and yet effectually as Prickly Ash Bitters. A trial will satisfy you of its merits.

Blumensteil's Repair Shop is the place to have your buggies painted and trimmed in the best style. Old Poindexter Carriage Shop, over Andrew Hall's marble works.

The Best Hogshead in the Market.

If you want good hogsheads, I am prepared to furnish you with them made by the celebrated hogshead maker, J. W. Tucker, who has no equal in this business. My prices are very reasonable, and I can make it to your interest to call on me. All I ask is a trial to convince you that my hogsheads are the best in the market. Give me a call, Virginia street, Mitchell & Winfree's old stand.
